

Privacy Policy

Last Updated: 10 August 2026

Drinks respects the privacy of all customers and visitors who use our website. This Privacy Policy explains how we may collect, use, store, and protect personal information when users visit the Drinks website, create an account, browse products, place an order, submit a review, or contact our support team.

By accessing or using the Drinks website, users acknowledge that they have read and understood this Privacy Policy. Users who do not agree with the practices described in this policy should discontinue the use of the website.

1. Information We Collect

Drinks may collect personal information that users provide directly through the website. This may include a user's full name, email address, phone number, delivery address, account password, order information, payment details, product preferences, reviews, ratings, and messages submitted through the contact form.

Personal information may be collected when a user creates an account, logs in, signs up for a membership, places an order, adds products to a shopping cart, contacts customer support, submits feedback, or participates in website activities.

Users are responsible for ensuring that the information they provide is accurate, complete, and up to date. Providing incorrect information may affect our ability to process an order, respond to an enquiry, or provide certain website services.

We may also collect basic technical information automatically when users access the website. This information may include the type of browser being used, the device type, operating system, approximate location, website activity, pages visited, time spent on pages, and actions taken while using the website.

Technical information is mainly used to understand how visitors interact with the website and to identify areas that may require improvement.

2. How We Use Personal Information

Drinks may use the information collected from users for several purposes. Personal information may be used to create and manage user accounts, verify account details, process orders, provide customer support, respond to enquiries, and improve the overall website experience.

Information may also be used to help customers view their previous orders, manage their shopping carts, save product preferences, submit reviews, and access account-related services.

Where appropriate, Drinks may use contact information to send important updates regarding an account, order, delivery, payment, refund, or website service. These messages are necessary for providing the requested service and are not considered promotional messages.

With the user's permission, we may also send information about new products, special offers, discounts, promotions, or updates relating to Drinks. Users may choose to unsubscribe from promotional communications at any time.

We may analyse website usage data to understand which products and pages are most popular. This information can help us improve website navigation, product presentation, customer service, and future business decisions.

Personal information will only be used for purposes that are reasonably connected to the operation of the Drinks website and the services offered through it.

3. Account Information

Users may be required to create an account to access certain features of the website. When creating an account, users must provide accurate and complete information.

Users are responsible for keeping their login details, password, and personal identification information private. Drinks will not be responsible for unauthorised account activity caused by a user sharing their login information or failing to secure their device.

Users should contact Drinks immediately if they believe that their account has been accessed without permission. We may temporarily suspend or restrict access to an account while investigating possible unauthorised activity.

Drinks may ask users to verify their identity before allowing changes to important account information. This helps protect accounts from fraud, misuse, or unauthorised access.

4. Cookies and Website Storage

The Drinks website may use cookies, browser storage, or similar technologies to improve website functionality. These technologies may be used to remember login details, save shopping cart items, store theme preferences, and improve the browsing experience.

For example, the website may use local storage to remember whether a user selected light mode or dark mode. It may also store shopping cart information so that products remain available when the user returns to the website.

Cookies may also help us understand how users navigate the website. This can help identify technical problems, improve page layouts, and provide more relevant content.

Users may disable cookies through their browser settings. However, disabling cookies or browser storage may cause some website features to stop working properly.

5. Sharing of Personal Information

Drinks does not sell, rent, or trade users' personal information to third parties for unrelated commercial purposes.

Personal information may be shared with trusted service providers when necessary to operate the website or provide requested services. These service providers may include payment processors, delivery companies, website hosting providers, customer support services, and technical service providers.

Only the information necessary to complete the relevant service will be shared. Service providers are expected to protect personal information and use it only for the agreed purpose.

Drinks may also disclose information where required by law, court order, government authority, or legal investigation. Information may be disclosed when reasonably necessary to protect the rights, safety, property, or security of Drinks, its customers, employees, or the public.

If Drinks is involved in a merger, business transfer, restructuring, or sale, personal information may be transferred as part of the business operation. Users will be informed when required by applicable law.

6. Payment Information

Where online payments are available, payment details may be processed by an external payment service provider. Drinks may not directly store complete debit card, credit card, or banking information.

Payment service providers may collect and process payment information according to their own privacy policies and security procedures. Users should review the relevant payment provider's policies before completing a transaction.

Drinks will take reasonable steps to work with reliable payment providers. However, users are responsible for ensuring that their payment information is accurate and that they are authorised to use the selected payment method.

7. Data Security

Drinks takes reasonable measures to protect personal information against unauthorised access, loss, misuse, alteration, or disclosure.

Security measures may include access restrictions, password protection, secure website connections, regular software updates, and internal procedures for handling personal information.

However, no website, internet connection, electronic storage system, or online transmission method can be guaranteed to be completely secure. Users should understand that information submitted online may involve certain security risks.

Users can help protect their information by creating a strong password, avoiding the reuse of passwords, logging out after using shared devices, and not sharing account details with others.

8. Data Retention

Drinks may retain personal information for as long as necessary to provide website services, maintain user accounts, complete transactions, comply with legal obligations, resolve disputes, and enforce agreements.

Account information may be retained while an account remains active. Order records may be stored for a reasonable period for financial, customer service, and record-keeping purposes.

Information that is no longer required may be deleted, anonymised, or securely stored according to our data management practices.

Users may request the deletion of certain personal information. However, Drinks may retain information when required for legal, financial, security, or administrative purposes.

9. User Rights and Choices

Users may request access to the personal information held about them. They may also request corrections if their information is incomplete, inaccurate, or outdated.

Where applicable, users may request that certain personal information be deleted or that its use be restricted. Some information may need to be retained to complete existing orders, meet legal requirements, prevent fraud, or maintain business records.

Users may update certain account details directly through their profile settings. They may also contact the Drinks support team for assistance.

Users who receive promotional emails may unsubscribe by following the instructions provided in the message. Users may still receive important account, security, transaction, or service-related communications.

10. Third-Party Links

The Drinks website may contain links to external websites, social media platforms, or third-party services.

These external websites operate independently and may have their own privacy policies. Drinks is not responsible for the privacy practices, security, availability, or content of third-party websites.

Users should review the privacy policy of any external website before submitting personal information.

The presence of an external link on the Drinks website does not necessarily mean that Drinks supports, controls, or guarantees the services provided by that third party.

11. Children's Privacy

The Drinks website is not designed to intentionally collect personal information from young children without the permission of a parent or guardian.

Users who are below the minimum legal age required to provide personal information should obtain permission from a parent or guardian before creating an account or using website services.

If Drinks becomes aware that personal information has been collected from a child without appropriate permission, reasonable steps may be taken to remove the information.

Parents or guardians who believe that a child has submitted personal information may contact Drinks for assistance.

12. Changes to This Privacy Policy

Drinks may update this Privacy Policy when changes are made to the website, services, business practices, or legal requirements.

Updated versions may be published on the website with a revised "Last Updated" date. Users are encouraged to review the Privacy Policy regularly.

Continued use of the website after an updated policy has been published means that the user acknowledges the revised policy.

Significant changes may also be communicated through the website, email, or account notification where appropriate.

13. Contact Us

Users who have questions, concerns, or requests relating to this Privacy Policy may contact the Drinks support team.
